( (Getting to) Know your Enemy

An aerial photograph of a road winding through a dense forest. The road is a light-colored path that curves through the trees. The entire image is overlaid with a semi-transparent grey rectangle containing text. The text is in a bold, sans-serif font. The main quote is in black, and the phrase 'If every man needed a battle to fight, enemies abounded.' is highlighted in a bright blue color. The quote is attributed to Kristin Kobes Du Mez in a smaller black font below the main text.

“Eldredge’s God was a warrior, and men were made in the image of this warrior god. Every man needed a battle to fight. [...] I soon came to see that a Christian warrior ideal fueled culture wars politics on the home front. If every man needed a battle to fight, enemies abounded.”

-Kristin Kobes Du Mez (Jesus and John Wayne, in regards to John Eldredge’s Wild at Heart)

For we do not battle against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the cosmic powers over this present darkness, against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly places.

. ““And why worry about a speck in your friend’s eye when you have a log in your own? How can you think of saying to your friend, ‘Let me help you get rid of that speck in your eye,’ when you can’t see past the log in your own eye? Hypocrite! First get rid of the log in your own eye; then you will see well enough to deal with the speck in your friend’s eye.”
